

17 Miles of Glorious Heritage Railway Lines to Explore

Picturesque County Station has no trains running as yet, but worth the visit. Preserved in its 1930's condition. A display of items relating to the former Watt's Naval Training School, which the station was built to serve. Restoration of our 2ft 'Narrow Gauge' railway is being located here. Grounds include picnic areas, wild flower meadow, footpaths and are open all year round. There's also an orchard containing varieties of rare local fruit trees.

Travel from Dereham on the Mid-Norfolk Railway, on a journey which takes you through the 'Heart of Norfolk' with unspoiled 'Big-Sky' countryside views and a chance to visit historic Wymondham town.

Dereham station is Mid-Norfolk Railway's Headquarters. A fine Victorian station restored to the way it would have looked in the late 1950's when Dereham was an important railway junction. Featuring period ticket office, tearoom, souvenir shop and displays of local railway artefacts.

Our railway is mostly staffed by volunteers who will be happy to answer any questions you may have about the line during your visit. The Railway also hosts a number of special events to suit all ages and interests from a Model Rail Exhibition and a series of Transport days to Halloween and Santa specials visit web site for more details.

Thuxton is a classic 'Tudoresque' station. Its signal box was demolished before 1955. The NEW box is fitted with a 26 lever McKenzie and Holland frame (1904) and recovered from Seven Sisters railway station in London.

Until 1923 the station was known just as 'Kimberley', but this was changed to 'Kimberley Park' to avoid confusion with Kimberley station in Nottinghamshire.

A 15/20 minute stroll to mainline station connecting with Norwich, Thetford & Ely.

No trains run as yet ... on our list though! North Elmham station was part of the Wymondham to Wells Branch (1847-1989) and is being restored from Dereham to County School railway station.

Picturesque Yaxham station includes the Stationmaster's house and also situated adjacent to the station is 'Yaxham Light Railway', a 2ft narrow gauge heritage railway.

A haven for wildlife the 'Railway Lake' at Thuxton was originally dug by the previous landowner as a water skiing lake!

Hardingham station was opened in 1847 and is 'Periodically Served' on special events by the Mid-Norfolk Railway. The Signal box (recovered from Snettisham) took an eight year restoration by the current owner.

Wymondham Abbey ... a great destination for your picnic. Wymondham is an ancient market town with historic buildings including the Abbey (founded in 1107) unusual in having two towers. Wymondham mainline station is a 15/20 minute stroll and connects to Norwich, Thetford or Ely.
